Day 3 - Trek from Ghangaria to Valley of Flowers and Back

Begin your day with a 5–6 hour round-trip trek from Ghangaria to the Valley of Flowers, situated at an altitude of 11,500 feet. This section of the trail leads into the heart of a UNESCO World Heritage Site, renowned for its breathtaking landscapes and rich biodiversity. The climb is gentle, and the path meanders through serene alpine scenery.

As you enter the valley, you're greeted by a living canvas of colors. Thousands of rare Himalayan flowers bloom across the meadows between July and early September. Among the most notable are blue poppies, brahma kamal, primulas, anemones, marsh marigolds, geraniums, cobra lilies, and daisies—all framed by snow-clad peaks and drifting clouds. The valley is also home to various medicinal plants and endemic species found nowhere else on Earth.

Walk slowly, breathe deeply, and take in the fragrance and beauty of this alpine paradise. Watch for butterflies, moss-covered rocks, and the winding Pushpawati River that runs through the valley. As camping is not allowed within the park, you'll return to Ghangaria by late afternoon to rest and prepare for the next day's ascent to Hemkund Sahib.

Day 4 - Trek from Ghangaria to Hemkund Sahib and Back

Prepare for a demanding yet deeply rewarding trek to Hemkund Sahib, located at an altitude of 14,200 feet. The 6 km ascent from Ghangaria is steep and physically challenging, but the scenic beauty and spiritual energy along the way make every step worthwhile.

As you climb, panoramic views of snow-draped peaks unfold, and the air grows thinner, cooler, and quieter. After hours of effort, you'll arrive at the serene Hemkund Lake, nestled beside one of the world's highest Gurudwaras.

Here, the calm waters reflect the surrounding peaks, and the devotional hymns echo through the valley, creating a surreal and peaceful ambiance.
